

Heart of Colorado FiberArts Guild

May 2018 Newsletter

From the President:

Happy May! Here we are at the culmination of another fun and fabulous year of the Heart of Colorado FiberArts Guild. I am looking forward to the wonderful creative projects you all will be bringing to the meeting on Friday, May 4, for our Challenge. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Program Committee for planning an outstanding year of fun and educational programs – Thank you, Judy Curran and Janet Yinger! Our new program committee has already started planning for the coming year, so I hope everyone will rejoin HCFG next year to see what is in store. Don't forget to bring show and tell if you have something other than your Challenge project. See you on FiberartsFriday!

Karen Robinson

This Month's Program:

Join us for the long waited annual HCFG Challenge Project Reveal!" Yes, it is that time of year again. The challenge for this year was "An Experiment in Foreign Culture" where you were to choose a foreign country and create any type of item based on that homeland. The challenge could incorporate native fibers or craft techniques, regional art forms, national colors or symbols, or simply what thoughts came to mind when envisioning your chosen country.

Projects will be displayed on a table or two for viewing by everyone and Jane Templeton will moderate the presentation of the projects by the designer, who will be called upon to take a couple of minutes to share their research, decision-making process, project planning and execution of ideas to meet the challenge. Please summarize this information on an index card next to the project. The index cards will remind us of the stories we have just heard, as well as serve as descriptions for the September display of our projects at the Buena Vista library.

The names of everyone who participated in this year's challenge will be put in a basket and a winner drawn for a free ticket to the annual Fashion Show and Boutique on October 17, 2018, at the SteamPlant. See you at the meeting!
