Happy Thanksgiving to our members! I hope you have a peaceful and loving holiday with family or friends this week. My family will have a quiet day with me in my studio and the guys watching football -- with lots of munchies and snacks all day topped off with a turkey that night, which is just the perfect kind of holiday for me. I hope you spend your doing whatever you most like to do.

We are going to make some changes to the Guild Christmas party location, however. As you have probably heard by now, Nancy McAninch's husband "Mac" has a stroke this past week and is at the hospital in Salida. Nancy says he needs to rest, so visitors aren't the best thing right now. He will be moving to a rehab facility in Lakewood next Tuesday and Nancy will be temporarily relocating there to be with Mac. She has her daughter Penny with her, and Mac's daughter has been here also, so Nancy has the help she needs, but we cannot add the burden of hosting the Christmas party to her agenda right now. I will send out an announcement of the new location as soon as I know it.

If you live in Salida and would be willing to host the meeting (coffee 9-9:30, then potluck and gift exchange about noon, please call me (539-7184) to volunteer!!!

We will still have the studio tours as scheduled, as well as the lunch and gift exchange. If you haven't decided what dish to bring, last names A-L are to bring a salad or main dish, and M-Z a dessert. If you want to participate in the gift exchange, bring a wrapped gift (doesn't have to be handmade) valued between $15 and $20.

And don't forget that our January meeting will be a week later than usual -- Friday, January 9, 2015, at the Congregational United Church of Christ in Buena Vista. Shelly DeChantal will teach us about creating resist-dyed patterns on cloth. She will even have hand-dyed samples for us to open up and see what happens! Definitely a can't-miss meeting, so keep your fingers crossed for good weather.

Thanks,
Cancace
