May 2017 Newsletter

From the President:

Fiber Artists Reign! What a fun Challenge we had this year. Imagine how wonderful all the entries were, so much so that we decided not to have a single winner – we are all winners. Thank you all who participated; it was fabulous. Such creativity is truly inspiring.

At the May meeting we will be voting on the slate of officers for 2017-2018, June to June. I hope some of you will consider volunteering for other HCFG activities. I have enjoyed working with you all this year and look forward to next year.

Karen

Proposed Slate of Officers for 2017-2018:

HCFG Slate of Officers for 2017-2018:

President – Karen Robinson

Vice-President – Sandee Jaastad

Secretary – Elizabeth Shelby

Treasurer – Cheryl Eigsti

Program Chair – Judy Curran

Website Manager – Marjie Gray

Coffee & Treats Organizer – Libby Fay

From the Program Committee:

Thanks to all who participated in this year's HCFG Challenge Project! The projects were so amazing that we all were completely at a loss as to how to choose a winner. Therefore we will draw a winning name out of a "hat" at the May meeting and award an invisible ticket to the October 2017 HCFG Fashion Show.

The BV Public Library has reserved the month of July for us to display our challenge projects. It would be wonderful to show off all the projects if possible! You may bring your project, picture and a brief description of the inspiration for your project to the May meeting, or the Program Committee can make arrangements to collect them at a later date. It does take some time to plan and prepare the displays, so we need them by the middle of June.

Our May 5th program at CUCC in Buena Vista features fiber artist Caroline Spurgeon, who will speak to us about the history of twining. She will conduct a workshop in the afternoon on Twined Bags, using very simple looms. There are still a few slots available, so plan on joining us for a fun learning experience!

Hint: Twined bags can be made in many sizes, in many patterns, and can make use of bits of stash, beads and other decorative elements that we all seem to have in profusion.

Speaking of stash, the June 2, 2017, HCFG STASG SALE is fast upon us. Books, equipment and stash of all sorts are welcome. The sale will be held in front of Nancy McAninch's home in Salida. Try to bring a table for display, and be sure to have all items marked with a price and your initials. We start at 9 am, and all of the stipulations will be reviewed at the May 5 meeting. Fingers crossed for good weather!

There will be a "People's Choice" award like last year.

continue to maintain the website; and Libby Fay will continue to be in charge of the coffee and getting volunteers to bring treats.

Fashion Show Committee Report:

Estimated budget is done. Arlene and Ruthann are working on a caterer. Janey is shopping for tiles this weekend and hopefully all of you are busy creating fashions for the runway.

Garments submitted this year MUST have their own write-up. The script for the MC describes the garment being shown, so each write-up is an essential part of the final script. It should go without saying that all garments must be clean and odor-free to be modeled or sold in the boutique.

If anyone has scrap yarn they think would work well on the tiles, we would be glad to collect it at the May meeting.

Janey

March Show and Tell:

Cheryl Eigsti – woven dish towels and table runner; Joi Santa Cruz – cloth tote bags that roll up; Elizabeth Shelby – knitted sweater for a grandson; Cheryl Smith – crocheted vest, 3-way shawl and pattern she wrote up for it, and a summer top; Nancy MCAninch – jacket made from 1” strips of fabric sewn together; Jane Templeton – knitted capelet; Auralea Carroll – Knitting a baby blanket; Alison Yinger (visitor) – drawing of mountain; Janet Yinger – spun yarn; Judy Curran – crocheting sweater for her husband.

Challenge Results:

Challenge: “My Play-Date with Color” showing inspiration and outcome:

Janet Yinger- picture of plastic orange fencing photographed up close led to a Brioche knitted cowl in orange and green. Gene Marsh – photo of a colorful market in Kenya led to a multi-colored knit jacket done in stripes of multi-colored yarn. Libby Fay – took photo of newly adopted dog and made a woven runner with the colors of the dog’s fur to put over the dog’ crate.

Karen Robinson – used the colors from a picture printed from the “I Require Art” website to weave a table runner. Cheryl Eigsti – inspired by a book and her son-in-law’s illness, made a woven flag. Sandee Jaastad (not present but her work was brought by Cheryl) – was inspired by a book cover and sewed and framed a picture using the same colors.

Ruthann Schoeffield – inspired by “Animal Cams,” especially one showing eagles hatching, knitted two shawls representing wings. Also a golden color knit sweater using her own dye plants. Sue Keyes – inspired by catalog images of black/white/red clothing, designed and sewed a jacket using repurposed clothing in these colors.

Judy Reese – inspired by a Mount Fuji Japanese art picture, made a woven wall hanging on a Cricket loom. Nancy McAninch – inspired by two pictures from magazines, made a jacket with similar colors of fabric pieces. Jane Templeton – first cut up a picture of Azure sponges and pasted them in a different design in a workbook, then used the same colors to weave the front of a vest in a waffle design using a print of the colors for the back. Candace Weiss – inspired by fall colors of leaves in a photo, knitted a sleeveless sweater and designed and made a jacket with a solid complimentary color for the sleeves and front, and applied an aspen pattern on the back with small triangles.
